THE STATE OF AFFAIRS AT WASHINGTON.

What they are talking about there, and how they are talking about it, is the subject of the following article.

Eds. Com.—Members of Congress are arriving rapidly. Only two topics are generally discussed—Secession and Lincoln's Calhoun.

The message will be read on Tuesday. The first draft has been modified, to prevent a split in the Cabinet. The President is anxious to right of action and to secure revenue shall be collected. The modification of the message does not affect the principle involved, but the phraseology is changed, and the message is more forcible and more direct.

It is asserted that resolutions will be presented to the House after the message, declaring the rights of secession. This will open the fight at once. It is asserted that the House will not pass the message, but will pass resolutions which will be a declaration of war.

It is asserted that the House will pass resolutions which will be a declaration of war.

From Washington.

Congress assembled yesterday, and the attendance in both houses was quite large.

The session opened auspiciously, general good humor prevailing.

But for the South Carolina hot heads, there is good reason to believe that the threatening storm at the South might be still.

The President's Message will probably be sent in to-day. If so, we shall have a synopsis of its contents to-morrow's SENTINEL, and the document in full by Friday.

Great curiosity is felt in regard to its tone and recommendations.

Oregon and California.

The Pony Express, with San Francisco dates to the 21st ult., brings us the full returns from California and Oregon.

Both of the Pacific States have voted for Lincoln; California by nearly 1,000 plurality over Douglas, and Oregon by 318 over Breckinridge.

The Kansas Troubles.

The latest report from the "heat of war" is that there is no trouble in Kansas; no attack upon Fort Scott; no invasion of Missouri; no "raid" upon the Border Slave States; no cause for Judge Williams' running away; and no occasion for the thousand troops ordered out. We thought as much.

The Vote of Virginia.

The VOTE OF VIRGINIA.—Gov. Letcher has issued a Proclamation assembling the Electoral College in that State, in which he divides the electoral vote of Virginia as follows: Nine for BELL and six for BRECKINRIDGE. He is brought to this conclusion in the face of an apparent majority for BELL by an implied acquiescence in the opinion of the Attorney-General on the returns. This is a large indication among the Democrats who believe it to be a Democratic fact.

The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette.

explains how the above result came about:

The election in Virginia has resulted curiously. The split and six electoral votes were cast for Breckinridge, and six for Bell. The result was a result of the fact that the voters of the State were divided into two parties, one for Bell and one for Breckinridge.
